What is one unique quality about the project?

This project was unique due to the intricate exterior framing details surrounding the entry canopy, exterior soffits, and transitions between CMU and screen wall. The various scopes ICI had on this project of interior and exterior framing, exterior sheathing, insulation, drywall, finishing, and spray foam insulation required a full team effort due to our installers having specialized strengths.

What is the one thing you are most proud of about the project?

I am most proud of our joint team effort with multiple scopes requiring various leaders within the company. Some of these locations were difficult to access requiring brainstorming by everyone from our installers to our safety team, ensuring our scope was installed safely with the upmost quality.
