What is one unique quality about the project? This project was 5 floors located in a new pre engineered timber wood framed building. There was lots of attention to detail, tear away bead and clean rocking/finishing needed to achieve the quality of finish the owner and client were looking for. Lots of open ceilings with walls, headers and soffits finished to 1/2" of wood structure with tear away bead.

What is the one thing you are most proud of about the project? The quality of drywall finish. There was a lot of coordination on this one with electrical and HVAC trades getting everything done before we fully finished the top out. The 1st floor had some issues with lots of go back patching, but the other floors were much better. The rock and finish/bead job on this project was top notch.
